"Nabil Helou" sculpture Exhibition at The Al Bustan International Festival of Music and Art
"and... against all odds... Odd was born...
Sensitive, friendly, musical, harmonious, Odd is a colorful character.
His shadow has the same color as him, just as his echo is similar to his tune.
Welcome to the world of Odd."

With the appreciated support of The Al Bustan International Festival of Music and Art, the sculptor Nabil Helou will be holding his sculpture exhibition entitled "Odditorium".

The exhibition will take place at Al Bustan Hotel, Beit Mery, Lebanon, during The Al Bustan International Festival of Music and Art, from February 18 to March 23, 2014.

Nabil Helou will be introducing his newborn artwork, a character named "Odd" which is his latest creation, a contemporary artistic combination between sculpture and painting. The exhibition shows the world of Odd, bringing together around 40 unique colorful sculptures and wall sculptures, in many scales, small, medium and large.

Mrs. Myrna Bustani, President of The Al Bustan International Festival of Music and Arts, stated: "At this 21st Festival, we are welcoming Nabil Helou to exhibit his work.

Nabil's work is a fusion between sculpture and painting, the work of a creative and unique artist. Nabil Helou's work is musical: it has color and rhythm; it is also pure, fresh and friendly. You can gaze at it from many angles; you will always find something new.

His exhibit at the ODDitorium will be very successful."

About his latest creation "Odd", Nabil Helou states:

"If frequencies could be seen, not only sensed, what shape would they take?
If tunes turned into colored figures, how would they be visualized?

Sounds don't disappear; they travel in space, in void.

Imagine if we could capture these frequencies or vibrations and make them alive.

Imagine the essence of the fourth dimension in a 3D sculpture.

Imagine if music had a newborn and then there would be an eighth note.

This will definitely be odd!

And when the newborn "Odd" is exposed for the first time in a big theater, the show will then become the "Odditorium".
